A Moral Conveyed.
We received some time since a copy of the letter which we subjoin. It was written by a distinguished literary lady, Mrs. W., of Troy and addressed to a learned Judge of New Haven, on the eve of his marriage. The letter accompanied the present of a pair of blue stockings, knit by the fair writer's own fingers, and we commend it to the careful perusal of all married persons as well as all who contemplate entering into that enviable and holy state:
"Dear Cousin: Herewith you will receive a present of a pair of woolen stockings, knit by my own hands; and be assured, coz, that my friendship for you is as warm as the material, active as the finger work, and generous as the donation.
"But I consider this present as peculiarly appropriate on the occasion of your marriage. — You will remark in the first place, that there are two individuals united into one pair, who are to walk side by side, guarding against colds, and giving comfort as long as they last. The thread of their future life is mixed, and so, alas, is the thread of life. In these, however, the white is made to predominate, expressing my desire and confidence that thus it will be with the color of your existence. No black is used, for I believe your lives will be wholly free from the dark passions of wrath and jealousy. The darkest color here is blue, which is excellent where we do not make it too blue.
"Other appropriate thoughts arise in my mind regarding these stockings. The most indifferent subjects, when viewed by the mind in a suitable frame may furnish instructive inferences. As saith the poet,
"The iron dogs; the fuel and tongs;
The fellows that have leathern lungs;
The firewood, ashes, and the smoke,
All to righteousness provoke."
"But to the subject. You will perceive that the tops of these stockings (by which I suppose ourship to be represented) are seamed; and by means of seaming are drawn into a snarl; but afterwards come a time when the whole is made plain, and continues so to the end and final tugging off. By this I wish to take occasion to congratulate yourself that you are now through with seaming, and have come to plain reality. Again, as the whole of these comely stockings was not made at once, but by the addition of one little stitch after another, put in with skill and discretion, until the whole presents the fair and equal piece of work which you see; so life does not consist of one great action but millions of little ones combined. And so may it be with your lives; no stitch dropped when duties are to be performed; no widening made where had principles are to be reprovoked or economy is to be preserved; neither sewing nor mending where truth and generosity are in question. Thus every stitch of life made right, and set in the right place—none either too large or too small, too tight or too loose—thus you may keep on your smooth and even course, making existence one fair and consistent piece, until together, having passed the heel, you come to the very toe of life. And here in the final narrowing off and dropping the coil of this emblematical pair of companions and comforting associates, nothing appears but white, the token of innocence and peace, of purity and light. May you, like these stockings, the final stitch being dropped and the work completed, go together from the place where you were formed, to a happier state of existence, a present from earth to heaven!
"Hoping these stockings and admonitions may meet a cordial reception, I remain in the true friendship, seemingly, yet without seeming, Yours, from top to toe,

DRUGS AND CHEMICALS.
SIMMONS' LIVER
The symptoms of Liver Complaint are uneasiness and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels are generally constipated, sometimes alternating with laxity. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complaining of weakness, debility and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the liver is generally the organ most involved. Cure the liver with
DR. SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR.
A preparation of roots and herbs, warranted to be strictly vegetable, and can do no injury to any one.

Miscellaneous.
The chirping and singing of the cricket and grasshopper are frequently spoken of; but they do not sing—they fiddle. By rubbing wings and legs together—each in a manner peculiar to the species—these insects produce the sounds which characterize them. Perhaps our best instrumental performer is the "katydid." Each wing contains a little tambourine, and by the opening and shutting of the wings these are rubbed against each other, and produce the sound of "katydid she-did," which can be heard at a long distance, and gives the insect its name.
A surprising instance of recklessness is reported from Glasgow. A master baker who wished to make his Christmas "shortbread" peculiarly attractive painted it with a green coposition. A profane of the Andersonian University passing the shop of this baker, noticed the peculiar coloring matter on the cakes which were displayed in the window, and was induced to purchase one. He found that the coating was poisoned and warranted to kill at almost at a single mouthful.
Mr. Schneider has left Paris for St. Petersburg, where she will receive the salary of £250 a week, a half cent benefit on the last night of her engagement, hotel and other necessary expenses for herself and suite entirely paid, and journey to Paris and back by special stages. Her compartment in the train was a saloon carriage fitted up with bedroom accommodations. Added to her usual retinue of servants she took with her her own artistic capillary and two female dressers.
Many ladies, compelled by circumstances to advertise for employment in the New York morning journals, have lately been grossly insulted by letters of the most indecent character, addressed to them by a person calling himself "H. Vere." Detectives Farley and Dunne, after a long search, have arrested one C. H. Alberney, whose handwriting corresponds with that in the letters alluded to. The prisoner, who is said to be a married physician, confessed his guilt.
Grace Greenwood winds up an account of being left at a way station by a railroad train with the sage remark that this experience took the conceit out of her as a strong-minded woman of the world, independent, and knowing a thing or two about travelling.

There is a curious coincidence in the debts of New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts. That of New York is $29,482,702; that of Massachusetts is $29,090,364, while that of Pennsylvania is reported as "nearly $29,050,000."
A writer in the Observer says he has taken off all his warts by paring them and saturating them with kerosene oil. The process took about a fortnight.
